Points of interest | Calella

9 Calella tourist office and Sa Perola

This building from the late 18th century was formerly used by the fishermen's association to reinforce their twine nets. It now hosts the Calella tourist office and the Interpretation centre of the guild of Saint Peter.

10 Church of Sant Pere

Featuring an eclectic style, the church was built in 1884 and renovated in 1958. The murals are by the painter Raimon Roca, while the side chapels were painted by Antoni Utrillo.

11 The Voltes Archways and Port Bo

The Voltes Archways and Port Bo square and beach are a great example of traditional architecture and one of the most photographed spots in Calella.

Port Bo beach was Palafrugell's natural port and the centre of its business and fishing activity. The Voltes Archways, which date back to the 19th century, were used by fishermen as a shelter to make their nets and chat.

12 The Cap Roig gardens

A spacious area to admire all kinds of Mediterranean vegetation, sculptures, a castle and breath-taking views of the coastline. The gardens are also the stage of the prestigious Cap Roig music festival.

Points of interest | Llafranc

13 Llafranc tourist office

14 Church of Santa Rosa

According to Josep Pla, the Church of Santa Rosa of Lima was dedicated to a summer visitor named Rose who helped contribute to the work. The church was opened in 1897, but its current appearance is due above all to the expansions in 1948 and 1958.

15 Sant Sebastià de la Guarda Historical Site

Apart from the lighthouse, the site features excavations of an Iberian settlement dating from the 6th-1st century BC, a watch tower from the 15th century, a small church built in the 18th an exhibition and an information point. The Sant Sebastià lighthouse is located 165 meters above sea level. It was opened in 1857 and its light reaches 32 nautical miles, making it the most powerful on the Catalan coast.

16 Roman wine press

From its Roman past, Llafranc still conserves the vestiges of what was once a wine press and a cellar very close to the church of Santa Rosa.

17 Dolmen Can Mina dels Torrents

Located in the forest of mount Sant Sebastià, the dolmen is a half hour walk from the beach in Llafranc following the local trails (PR). The site bears witness to the megalithic culture: a polygonal funerary construction with no corridor from around 3000 BCE.
